Holistic Well-being for Pets and the People they Love.

About Lynn...

"Animals are my favorite people!"

Nothing brings me more joy than working with the animals we are blessed to share our lives with. Their unconditional love and acceptance of the simple joys of the universe never ceases to astound me. They are our link to the natural world and our reminder that we are all connected to the divine.

I've been using energy work instinctively all my life. When I discovered Reiki, it was that "Ah-ha" moment of knowing I'd found my path. Since then, I've been led to guide those who come to me to a greater awareness and understanding of the connectedness of all beings to each other and to our mother Earth.

Namaste

(The divine in me honors
the divine in you.)

Remember...

While complementary care can be a great adjunct to traditional medicine, it should NEVER take the place of medical treatment by your licensed Doctor of Veterinary Medicine.

By their nature, energy therapies are gentle practices that enhance the healing process. They do not interfere in any way with medications or any medical procedures and in fact can help accelerate the body's natural ability to heal itself.

Build a rapport of cooperative care with your veterinarian by talking honestly and openly about your concerns and needs for your pet's well-being.

By blending traditional veterinary medicine and holistic care, your pet can have a healthy, balanced and happy life.

Reiki

(Ray-key) is a powerful, yet gentle form of touch therapy, which utilizes the naturally occurring energy of the universe to facilitate balance and harmony of body, mind and spirit. It is within this state of balance that healing can occur.

As a Reiki Practitioner, I act as a conduit for this life-force energy. Working with your pet's inner body wisdom, the Reiki energy naturally flows to where it will best be used, supporting and enhancing their existing energy system.

Animals generally love this gentle, hands-on connection to Universal Energy as they are naturally more sensitive to the subtle energies of the world around them. They often enter a deep state of relaxation and may fall asleep during the Reiki session.

If the time has come for your beloved pet to make the transition, Reiki can help you both to ease the pain of separation. Working on all levels, Reiki will help your pet relax - physically to reduce any discomfort and emotionally to accept the letting go. At the end of their days they will know that they are cradled in love.

Healing Touch for Animals® Komitor Healing Method, Inc.

At the forefront of bio-field therapies, HTA/KHM promotes balance and healing support for all animals.

Scientific findings prove that every being has an energy field surrounding them. This energy field reflects one's state of health, and is effected by all our experiences - emotional as well as physical.

HTA/KHM works with your pet's own energy field. It assists them in removing "blocks" in the flow of energy. This intentional and intuitive adjustment facilitates ease in their energy flow, returning them to a state of balance.

These techniques can be a great help in working with issues such as:

- Abandonment/Abuse
- Behavioral Challenges
- Connecting/Bonding
- Emotional Trauma
- Focus for Competition
- Injuries/Illness
- Physical Trauma
- Stress Management
- Training

It is through a balanced energy system that our pets maintain optimum health.

Reiki Certification Classes

As you see the positive results of the Reiki energy at work in your pet, you may wish to learn how to continue their treatments yourself. This is especially helpful when addressing a long-term energy imbalance.

I offer private lessons for each level of Reiki certification:

Level I - Shoden

The first degree of Reiki training will give you the basics to begin practicing Reiki on yourself and others.

Level II - Okuden

The second degree of Reiki training will enable you to send Reiki over distances of time and space and work on a higher vibrational level.

Advanced Reiki Training

For those who would like to work with a higher degree of Reiki energy, yet don't feel the desire to teach, ART will raise your practice to the next level.

Master/Teacher - Shinpiden

The highest degree of Reiki training. At this level you will learn how to use all the Reiki symbols and become certified to pass on the lineage as a Teacher.
